

plant type

- native and ornamental grasses

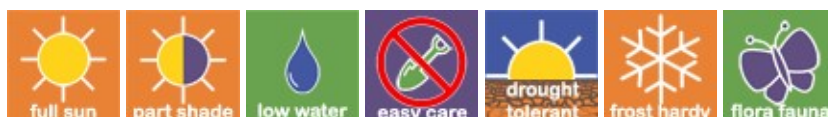

water hardiness

Austrodanthonia caespitosa

common wallaby grass

A tufting perennial with smooth, slender stems.

top ten

butterfly attracting

project type

urban and commercial
residential
farm forestry and
agriculture

ecosystem type

dryland
grassland

soil type and drainage

light - sandy soils
medium - loamy soils
heavy - clay soils
good drainage

origin	Southern NSW, S.A. Vic, W.A. Tas.
cultural notes	Thrives in a range of climatic conditions from hot and arid to cool and moist and a variety of soil types including heavy clay.
maintenance	Should be cut back periodically to encourage new growth.
tolerates	Frost, moderate drought.
flowering season	Late Spring flower colour	Pale green to white, fluffy in appearance. The flower head consists of 10-30 spikelets. Each plant can have 4 to 9 flower heads.
foliage colour	Blue-green, can develop pinkish tinges. The leaves are 3mm long and given adequate moisture will remain green all year round. Leaves are flat and narrow and sometimes hairy. Stems are smooth and slender.
width	up to 0.12m
height	up to 0.9m
plant spacing	30cm apart
recommended uses	Feature planting or revegetation use. Also considered a valuable pasture species. Native lawn.